Kids Helping Kids Presents Project Haiti - A Star-Studded Benefit Concert With Some of the Most Influential Young Hollywood Celebrities

WHAT: The non-profit organization Kids Helping Kids is presenting a star-studded benefit concert by partnering with some of the most influential young Hollywood celebrities in an effort to raise $500,000 for the orphans in Haiti. Actors including , Sammi Hanratty and Nathan Kress from iCarley, David Henrie (Wizards of Waverly Place), Savanna Outen (Disney 365), Ryan Ochoa from A Christmas Carol, Alyson Stoner from Cheaper By The Dozen, Caitlyn Taylor Love from I'm In The Band, America's Got Talent, Shanica Knowles from Hannah Montana, Chester See from Disney 365, Adrian R'Mante from Suite Life, Sarah McMullen from Last Ounce of Courage, Madisen Hill, Miss Missouri Jr. Teen, have all generously committed their time to attend. This unique red carpet family event is an opportunity for young stars to combine their talent and influence to make a difference in the lives of Haiti's orphans and teach our youth the importance of giving back.

WHY: Kids Helping Kids is a unique organization that evolved from a simple idea by a big-hearted 10 year old boy to raise $240 in order to save one Ghanaian child from the cycle of human trafficking into a fundraising and leadership movement for global transformation.
